Notice of Privacy Practices

Updated July 2020

This notice describes how your medical information may be used and disclosed. You can get access to this information about you. Please review it carefully.

CHC Responsibilities to Protect Your

Privacy: It is your right as a patient to be informed of CHC's legal duties with respect to protection of the privacy of your personal health information ("PHI").

PHI is information about you that may identify you and that relates to your past, present or future physical or mental health condition and health care services.

CHC is required to:

- Maintain the privacy of your PHI;
- Provide you with this Notice of Privacy Practices ("Notice") of the legal duties and privacy practices regarding PHI collected and maintained about you; and
- Abide by the terms of this Notice.

CHC reserves the right to change the terms of the Notice. If we change our practices and this Notice, the updated Notice will be posted on CHC's website at www.caringhealth.org. You also have a right to obtain a paper copy upon request.

CHC will not use or disclose your PHI without your authorization, except as described in this Notice. For some of these uses or disclosures, we need your written authorization. In the Notice we describe the different categories of our uses and disclosures and give you some examples in each category. Except when disclosing PHI relating to your treatment, payment or health care operations, we must use or disclose only the minimum necessary PHI to accomplish the purpose of the disclosure.

Your Health Information Rights:

CHC provides healthcare to its patients through collaborations with other healthcare entities and other professionals. All CHC employees, volunteers and contracted professionals will abide by CHC's privacy practices and procedures.

It is your right as a patient to be informed of the privacy practices of CHC as well as to be informed of your privacy rights with respect to your PHI. This Notice is intended to provide you with this information.

You have the right to:

Request a restriction on certain uses and disclosures of your PHI. You have the right to request restrictions on certain uses and disclosures of your PHI, even if the restriction affects your treatment or CHC's payment or health care operation activities. However, CHC is not required to agree to your requested restriction. Note, however, that if you are in an emergency situation we may disclose your PHI to a spouse, a family member, or a friend so that such person may assist in your care. In this case, CHC will determine whether the disclosure was in your best interest and, if so, only disclose PHI that is directly relevant to participation in your care.

Receive Confidential Communications. You have the right to request that CHC communicate your health information to you in a certain manner or at a certain location. CHC shall accommodate reasonable requests. For example, you may request to be contacted at a phone number that is different from the phone number listed in your health care record.

Inspect and obtain a copy of your health record.

You have the right to inspect and obtain a copy of your health care record. This request for access to your health care record must be submitted in writing to CHC's Medical Record Supervisor. This right may not apply to certain types of psychotherapy notes and CHC may charge you a reasonable fee for a copy of your health care record. We may deny your request to inspect and/or copy your PHI in certain very limited circumstances. If you are denied access to PHI, you may request that the denial be reviewed.

Amend your health record. You have the right to request an amendment to your health care record if you believe your PHI is incorrect or incomplete. You must make a request in writing and state the reason why your health record should be amended. If CHC did not create the PHI in your health record that you believe is incorrect or if CHC disagrees with you,

CHC may deny your request.

Obtain an accounting of disclosures of your health information.

You have the right to a list of instances when your PHI has been released. You may request an accounting as far back as six years, except requests for electronic disclosures relating to treatment, payment or operations disclosures which are limited to three years. The accounting will not include (i) non-electronic disclosures relating to treatment, payment or operations; (ii) disclosures if you gave your written authorization to share the information; (iii) disclosures shared with individuals involved in your care; (iv) disclosures to you about your health condition; (v) disclosures made for national security or intelligence purposes or to correctional institutions or law enforcement officials who have custody of you

Uses and Disclosures for Treatment, Payment and Health Care Operations:

Except where prohibited by state or federal law, CHC is permitted to use or disclose your PHI for treatment, payment or health care operations. We do not need to obtain your written authorization to take such actions, as explained below.

For Treatment. CHC may use or disclose your PHI in the provision, coordination or management of your health care treatment and any related services. PHI may include, but is not limited to, your health history, symptoms, examinations, test results, diagnoses, treatment and any plans for future care or treatment.

Example: Your PHI may be disclosed to a member of the CHC team who is involved in managing and providing your care, including nurses, physicians, therapists, social workers and other health care personnel. We may also disclose your PHI to non-CHC health providers, such as your physicians or other health care personnel.
